

there is a house
in the center of tel aviv,
growing like a tree,
blooming like a tree,
full of life and kindness.
here i saw another way,
how to handle with resources, how to live with each other;
different from what is on the street.
it's flying like seeds into the world.
not just sharing everything you need
but also sharing an idea, which makes my heart
growing like a tree,
blooming like a tree.
